

2017-2018 League School Holiday Wish List

Helen C. is just one of our talented students and is the artist who created this picture. Her goal for the future is to use art to teach and help the world.

She recently commented, "I have been through so much and League has helped me despite my short time being here by giving me a clear path of what I should, can and need to do."

When you give to League School, your support ensures our students, like Helen, have the resources they need to create their own paths.

Below are examples of the resources we hope to provide with your support.

What Your Support Means...

Assistive technology, like iPads or Smart Boards, allows our teachers to address different learning styles visual, auditory and kinesthetic - and alter activities to adapt to students' capabilities.

Your support will provide each of our students to have the appropriate technology they need to best learn.

Visual Arts and Music presents a natural setting to develop fine motor and social skills, while also offering opportunities to develop regulation strategies and problem-solving skills. More importantly, our students love them!

When you fill a need in the arts, you are helping our students use their imaginations to discover new worlds!

Children with autism often experience developmental delays making muscle strength, stability, coordination, and cardiovascular fitness areas of concern.

With your support, we can provide a wider range of activities to accommodate the varying needs and capabilities of our students.

Every student loves a field trip! However, for our students community trips help teach and develop the skills needed to communicate and handle unfamiliar sounds and situations.

Opportunities for additional trips and all the benefits they offer our students are only possible with your support.
