New Assistant Director of Education Makes Timely Homecoming to a Special Place

Many students, staff, and families already know the school's new Assistant Director of Education, Kayla Tierney, M.A., CCC-SLP. For seven years, she was a Speech-Language Pathologist for the school before leaving for a position at the public schools.

"The League School is a special place, and it feels like a homecoming," said Kayla. "I believe in the mission and am a strong supporter of the educational model." Get to Know Kayla.

Students Provide Critical Help: Take Pride in Their Work and Gain Work-Life Skills

As reported in March, the Department of Elementary and Secondary Education (DESE) selected the League School as one of three private schools, and the only school focused on the autism community, to help overhaul the Individual Education Program (IEP) process. The goal of the initiative is to improve outcomes for students with disabilities. Read the latest about this initiative.

Each year, outside support helps us close a financial gap between tuition and the true cost of providing the resources needed for our students to succeed. That support is needed more than ever as we work to create new learning opportunities while facing so many challenges and uncertainties. Please consider making a donation to League School today.
